IN A WORLD OF SUNSHINE

In a world of sunshine and blue skies,
Where laughter and joy never dies,
We find happiness in every little thing,
From the chirping of birds to the cherry flowers in spring.

With our hearts full of love and smiles,
We embrace all beauty that's by our side,
Friends and family, that's a treasure,
Their presence brings us endless pleasure.

Let's celebrate life, let's sing and dance,
Let's seize each moment,
let's take a chance,
For this journey, through ups and downs,
Happiness is found all around.

A TALE DIVINE

*In the realm where hearts entwine,
A dance of love and desire begin.*

*Two souls, as one, their hearts align,
In this enchanting, mystic shrine.*

*Desire, a flame that flickers bright,
An ember of passion's gentle light.*

*Love, a river flowing deep and wide,
An ocean of emotion, where two souls reside.*

*The whispers of love, a sweet serenade,
A melody that softly plays upon the breeze.*

*Desire, a symphony that never fades,
A rhythm that echoes through the trees.*

*In the twilight's tender embrace,
Two hearts, as one, find their place.*

*Their love, a beacon shining bright,
A guiding light through life's darkest night.*

*Desire, a force that fuels their passion,
A flame that burns with fervent devotion.*

*Love, a bond that transcends all time,
An eternal connection, a sacred chime.*

*As love and desire intertwine,
A story unfolds, a tale divine.*

*Two hearts, forever intertwined,
A testament to love's sublime design*

LIFE

*In the vast expanse of life's unfolding story,
We navigate the twists and turns of fate,
Caught in the ebb and flow of time's eternal dance,
Seeking purpose in a world of fleeting moments.*

*We are but travellers on a cosmic journey,
Bound by the limits of our mortal frames,
yet yearning to touch the infinite expanse,
To glimpse the secrets of the universe.*

*In the silence of the night, we contemplate,
The beauty and the chaos that surround us,
The fragile balance of joy and sorrow,
The relentless march of days into nights.*

*We are the dreamers, the seekers, the wanderers,
Sifting through the fragments of our existence,
In search of meaning, of connection,
Of a truth that lies beyond the veil of illusion.*

*And as we grapple with the reality of life,
We learn to embrace the uncertainty,
To find solace in the impermanence,
To cherish each moment as a gift.*

*For, in the tapestry of our shared experience,
We find the threads of love and loss,
Of hope and despair, woven together,
Creating a mosaic of life's intricate beauty.*

*Let us embrace the complexity of our existence,
Embrace the imperfections, the contradictions,
And in the midst of it all, find grace,
For in the reality of life,
We find our truest selves.*

A SUBLIME BOND

*Retro songs entwined with the drops,
creating a soothing harmony;
Pageant of happy thoughts keep flowing,
carving on the face a ceaseless smile;
Lively gust tenderly touching,
Pacifies the body and the soul;
The sprinkles reach out,
trespassing the window,
Blesses the body with its sacredness;
Opening the eyes slowly, sees the showers of blessings;
Blesses even the smallest of the creature,
Surreal! Green, prodigious green
beyond the sight,
The unruffed shelters,
Highlighting the existence of positive aura
Gives massive delight;
And this is all between the rain and me.*

MY PAW FRIEND JIMMY

*My childhood started with you
Before that all I remember is haze of blue
When I saw you for the first time
You reminded me of the first sunshine*

*Desperately searching for a home,
In a place full of unknowns
She jumped towards my bed
In search of a piece of bread
Her fur felt like delicate feather
Shaded naturally with the changing weather her eyes were like almonds, eyebrows like bow hiding emotions, that she can't show*

*I saw her hiding from the vet
when addressed as "cat"
Excitement after seeing us
Sorrow when we left in a rush
The bond you shared with my grandfather
Reminds me of the memories to cheer, the way you followed him to the gate waiting for him till late*

*The way you sat beside him during lunch, hoping for a bone to munch
The way you looked with pure eyes
When he scolded you with light despise*

*The way you slept under his presence
As if you were guarding his essence
I knew you'd say goodbye someday
But it's harder to accept the fact any day*

*It's been six years since I last saw you;
he also left us as if to guard you,
My eyes, well up when I recall how you shake hand with your paws.
That's who my Paw friend Jimmy was!*

I WISH I WERE A CLOUD

I have myriad images in my mind

Good - bad, beautiful - ugly

Love - hatred, success - failure

Every day, each moment

Many things, many events pass through my mind

looking at those images

Like the pages of the Facebook

Making me happy or sad

Laugh, cry or act like a programmed robot.

A stooge to its boss.

I wish, I were a cloud

With no definite size, shape or form

No programmed path; no fixed norm

Can sail over the Sun, the Moon

Pass by the mountains, forests and rivers

At its sweet will with the same zeal,

Without forgetting its intrinsic property

of giving shade and rain

To all - Without any prejudice, favour

with all spontaneity and fervour.

EXISTENCE

*We are not the waves that come and go,
We are the ocean, infinite and forever;
We are not the flowers that bloom and fade away;
We are the scent and beauty that lasts forever.
We are the river that flows in its way.*

*No matter how big the obstacles are!,
We are the mountains standing firmly,
Finding our way with intense dedication.
We live in a life of randomness.*

*Where giving up is not an option,
and begging for mercy is not a solution,
we are in the dark tunnel,
Where we absorb some colour of lessons.*

*When we are under the open sky,
our deed illuminates the world.
Despite the conditions, adverse,
we strive to thrive, even in stress;
It will bring justice for sure
As our deed is our guide,
That will bask us in the limelight.*

THE LITTLE BOY

Lionel Messi was born in a poor Argentine family. His father worked in a steel factory and his mother was a part-time cleaner. Coached by his father, Messi developed a passion for football at an early age. Messi started to develop a genuine interest in football from the age of five. He wanted to join the professional football team early, so he joined a local football club, Newell Old Boys Club. However, his dream shattered when it was found that he had Growth Hormone Deficiency Syndrome, and needed $900 a month for treatment purposes and no local football club at the time could afford to sponsor his treatment. At the age of 11, he was diagnosed with the disease and had to seek medical assistance. He once said: "Every night I had to stick a needle into my legs, over a period of 3 years" Unfortunately, his family could not afford the treatment for long. FC Barcelona's coach identified Messi's talent and understood he had an instinctive quality to play football. At the age of 13, he got an offer from FC Barcelona that they would pay for his treatment, if he played for them. The first contract that was signed between Messi and FC Barcelona was a paper napkin, now considered the world's most valuable paper napkin. At thirteen, Messi relocated to Barcelona with his family and started playing matches in the under-14 team. His talent knew no bounds, so he was promoted to higher divisions very easily. In the 2004-05 season, he became the youngest player of FC Barcelona. The disease had an adverse impact on his physical growth, however, his balance, agility and dribbling skills were so amazing that his opponents could see his magic in the field. 2009-10 was the season when Barcelona won the prestigious 'treble' (Three Major European Trophies in a single season), and Messi was undoubtedly a great part of that success. Lionel Messi of Barcelona has been an integral part of FC Barcelona's success, where he scored 474 La Liga goals, the most number of goals in the group stage of the UEFA Champions League. Some of the other glorious examples of his calibre are: Most Liga titles won by a foreign player, Most hat-tricks for any club in La Liga, Most club honours Most goals in a single calendar year (2012, he scored 92) and the list is endless. In 2022, he led Argentina to win the 2022 FIFA World Cup, where he won a record second Golden Ball, scored seven goals including two in the final, and broke the record for most games played at the World Cup (26), later receiving his record-extending eighth Balloon in 2023.. He climbs into a galaxy of his own. He has his crowning moment and, of course, he is not alone. Today, Lionel Messi is known as one of the greatest footballers of all time. Messi's story teaches us that never lose hope. You never know what tomorrow might bring!!!

“Breaking the Silence: Navigating Mental Health Challenges in College Life”

In the bustling corridors and quiet corners of the campus, there exists a silent struggle that often goes unnoticed - the battle with mental health challenges. Behind the facade of academic achievement and social engagement, many students grapple with anxiety, depression, and other mental health issues that can profoundly impact their well-being and academic success.

Rohan, a third-year boy with a radiant smile, had a passion for helping others. On the surface, Rohan appears to have it all together, but beneath his cheerful demeanour was a constant battle with anxiety. "I always felt like I had to maintain this image of perfection, especially in a field like marketing we're supposed to have all the answers," he shares. "But the truth is, I struggle just like anyone else."

My story is not uncommon. According to recent studies, approximately one in three college students experience significant symptoms of depression or anxiety. Many suffer in silence due to the fear of stigma or judgment. "There's this pervasive belief that seeking help is a sign of weakness or failure," says Dr. Keya Desai, a licensed therapist at the college counselling center. "But in reality, reaching out for support is a courageous act of self-care." Breaking the stigma surrounding mental health is a crucial step towards creating a campus culture that prioritizes well-being and fosters a sense of belonging for all students. That's why initiatives like the "Let's Talk" campaigns have emerged, aiming to promote open dialogue about mental health and encourage help-seeking behaviours. Through campus-wide events, workshops, and peer support groups, students are provided with safe spaces to share their experiences and access resources for mental health support.

For me, finding solace in a community of peers who understood his struggles was a turning point in his journey towards healing. "Being able to connect with others, who were going through similar challenges made me realize that I wasn't alone, he reflects." It gave me the courage to seek professional help and develop coping strategies that worked for me." In addition to counselling services, colleges are increasingly implementing proactive measures to support students' mental health and well-being. From mindfulness workshops and stress-reduction programs to pet therapy sessions and wellness fairs, there is a growing recognition of the importance of holistic approaches to mental health care.

Exploring the Journey: From Curiosity to World's Youngest Kaggle Dataset Grandmaster & 3X Master

As I sit on the cusp of completing my final year of college, I find myself reflecting on a journey that has not only shaped my academic and professional pursuits but has also transformed my entire outlook on data science and machine learning. It's a journey that began with a simple curiosity and a thirst for knowledge. Also it is the one that culminated in a remarkable achievement: the coveted title of Kaggle Grandmaster.

My journey into the world of data science began when I took admission in the AI ML branch with a desire to explore various domains, including web development, Android app development, and machine learning. It was during this time that I stumbled upon Kaggle, the largest ML community. Inspired by Abhishek Thakur's achievements, particularly his video where he mentioned being the world's first Kaggle 3X and 4X Grandmaster, I became intrigued by the platform's potential for learning and growth. However, as a novice on the platform, I encountered challenges, including facing down votes on my content. Despite these initial setbacks, I remained determined to learn and contribute positively to the community.

One significant project I undertook was bringing AI into the justice system, aiming to provide a platform for lawyers and clients to access relevant legal information. This project was part of the product track in the Cisco cohort program at our college. The idea was to create a platform where clients, lawyers, and relevant legal information could converge, facilitating easier access to legal resources. However, I faced the challenge of unavailable datasets for this project. Undeterred, I decided to create custom datasets through web scraping, using tools like Selenium, Beautiful Soup, and Scrapy. This effort not only helped me in the project but also led to my first gold medal on Kaggle. Another memorable experience was when I noticed a lack of audio datasets being uploaded, with most focus on tabular, image, and text data. To break this barrier, I decided to contribute by uploading the "2161 SOUNDS OF 114 UNIQUE BIRDS" dataset. The response from the community was overwhelmingly positive, with many members participating by publishing notebooks and offering valuable suggestions for dataset improvement.

Balancing Kaggle with college classes, exams, and self-learning was a daunting task. However, I managed to balance my Kaggle activities with my other commitments by dividing my days into dedicated slots, often dedicating my nights to Kaggle until my mind and body signalled it was time to rest. This discipline allowed me to consistently engage with the platform make meaningful contributions while fulfilling other responsibilities. Despite facing self-doubt, I focused on competing with my past self and kept on striving to be a better version of myself with each passing day.

Kaggle has had a profound impact on my personality, communication skills, and network. Engaging with a diverse community of data enthusiasts from around the world has improved my communication skills and expanded my network. It has taught me the importance of collaboration, continuous learning, and perseverance in achieving goals. It took me nearly 1.5 years to achieve this rank and this journey taught me how to remain focused.

As I look towards the future, my goal is not just to achieve another Grandmaster title but to continue learning, sharing knowledge, and contributing to the Kaggle community I aim to become a 2X Grandmaster while focusing on self-improvement and helping others along their Kaggle journey

Those, just starting their journey in data science and aspiring to establish a successful career in this field, Kaggle is the go-to place for them. It serves as a hub where brilliant minds from around the world converge to share knowledge, collaborate on projects, and engage in friendly competition. Focus on learning and growth, and the accolades such as medals, tier progression, and other accomplishments will naturally follow. Wishing you all the best on your journey!

Keep Learning, keep kagglng.

EXAM DAYS IN HOSTEL

It's exam season, and the air is thick with anticipation and nervousness. In Hostel, rooms are dimly lit by desk lamps and the glow of laptops. As the clock strikes midnight, the corridors of the hostel come alive.

Throughout the day, the corridors buzz with last-minute revisions and anxious pacing while the library becomes a battleground. Exam days in the hostel can be quite an experience! It's a mixture of stress, late-night craving, and a whole lot of energy drinks. The aroma of instant noodles and coffee wafts through the air, sustaining weary souls burning the midnight oil. They say, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Some guys form study groups to help each other out, while others take quick breaks to play games and relieve the tension. And of course, there's always that one guy who becomes the unofficial snack provider, keeping everyone fuelled. Some seek solace in music, of their favourite playlists. The atmosphere is a mix of tension and determination. With the sound of pencils scribbling and the occasional frustrated sigh, it's not all doom and gloom.

There are moments when students take a break and have a good laugh together, sharing funny stories or cracking jokes to lighten the mood. And let's not forget the epic study sessions where they gather in one room, armed with snacks trying to conquer the mountains of knowledge.

It's a challenging time, but they support each other and celebrate when it's all over. It's a whirlwind of emotions and activities! Finding ways to keep spirits up, they support each other and push through together. Bleary-eyed and caffeine-fuelled, students emerge from their cocoons of concentration, exchanging nods of solidarity and words of encouragement. There's a sense of collective purpose in the air, a shared determination to conquer the challenges that lie ahead.

Finally, the moment of reckoning arrives. As students enter the exam hall, hearts pounding and palms sweaty, there's a pulsating anxiety with a quiet confidence. They've prepared as best they could. Whatever the outcome, they know they've given it their all. As the days pass and the exams recede into memory, the hostel gradually returns to its usual rhythm. The late-night study sessions give way to post-exam celebrations, as students come together to unwind and recharge. Though the exams may be over, the bonds forged in the crucible of academic pressure endure a testament to the resilience and camaraderie of hostel life.

THE CANVAS OF DREAMS

*In shadows deep, dreams quietly weep,
But courage blooms where hearts dare to leap.*

My name is Dibya Smruti, and this is my story. A story of dreams suffocated by the weight of expectations, of hopes crushed by the relentless pressure to conform. I always had a passion for art. The strokes of a paintbrush, the dance of colors on a canvas, they spoke to me in a language that resonated deep within my soul. I dreamt of becoming a designer, of weaving my creativity into every aspect of life.

But fate had other plans for me, or rather, my parents did. They had their hearts set on a different path for me, one paved with the promises of a secure future and financial stability. So, here I am, pursuing a degree in Computer Applications.. At first, I tried to convince myself that may be this was for the best, that perhaps I could find a way to merge my love for art with the world of technology. But as the days turned into weeks, and the weeks into months, I found myself drowning in a sea of syllabi and assignments that held no meaning me. My father, quite indifferent to my dreams, found my plea insignificant. but my mother, on the other hand, saw the fire in my eyes, the longing in my heart. She became my silent supporter, my pillar of strength in the face of adversity. Yet, despite her unwavering support, the pressure weighed heavy on my shoulders. I struggled to keep up with the demands of my studies, to excel in subjects that held no interest for me. Each passing day brought with it a new wave of despair, a growing sense of inadequacy that threatened to consume the whole me.

I found myself retreating into solitude, seeking solace in the empty corridors of my mind. I cried silent tears in the darkness of my room, my dreams slipping further and further away with each passing moment. But amidst the chaos of my inner turmoil, a flicker of hope still burned bright. Deep within the recesses of my being, I held onto the belief that someday, somehow, I would find my way back to the path I was meant to tread. And so, I soldiered on, my heart heavy with the weight of unspoken dreams. For though the road ahead may be fraught with obstacles, I refuse to let go of the one thing that keeps me going—the unwavering belief that in the end, it is not the pressure of the world that defines us, but the strength of our own convictions

THE JOURNEY OF SUCCESS

A canvas, awaiting the strokes of our efforts and determination, is what life is! These strokes might have limited scope to reflect actions as life is uncertain, hence important to realize that time is limited while the amount of studying required is extensive. The destination is not far; just remember to surpass yesterday's efforts with even greater dedication today, for it is in these moments of unwavering commitment that true transformation occurs. It will be immensely rewarding, as the seeds of your hard work blossom into remarkable achievements.

Imagine the day when your results are announced, for on that day, only two things become evident: a tear of sadness and a tear of joy. But let us add another dimension to this profound moment. Envision the sparkle in your eyes, the sheer pride radiating from within as you embrace your well-deserved success. It is a fleeting moment, yes, but one that demands years of perseverance and unwavering belief in your abilities. It is then that the immense happiness of your life's most crucial result, which truly unfolds and determines your career,

Always remember, the marks printed on the result sheet never change. They are a reflection of your efforts and dedication, but they do not define your worth or limit your potential. Your true value lies in the journey you undertook, the growth you experienced, and the person you became along the way. You are not merely a score; you are a force of resilience, determination, and limitless potential.

Such is life, an intricate tapestry woven with the threads of our aspirations. If your result is exceptional, envision the admiration of all who behold it, including your relatives. Picture it, my friend, for it is a testament to your unwavering spirit and relentless pursuit of excellence. But remember, this level of success does not come easily. Perhaps the world is characterized by intense competition and limited opportunities, but it is essential to stand out. Work so diligently that you feel as though you are alone in your journey, relishing that sensation, for it is in these moments of solitary dedication that true greatness is forged.

So, live with vigour, for it is an opportunity to surpass your own expectations, break barriers, and transcend your perceived limitations. Let your ambition soar, and let your actions speak volumes. For in the realm of possibilities, there is no ceiling to what you can achieve. The world is waiting for your brilliance, my friend, so go forth and leave an indelible mark upon it.
